

The American Culture and Difference Program in the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of St. Thomas invites you to a talk by Ricardo Levins Morales on

THE POWER AND PRACTICE OF MEDICINAL ART

Ricardo Levins Morales is a social movement artist and activist. He uses his art to engage with communities and movements and to help them counter the toxic messages that keep them from developing their power. He was born in the coffee growing regions of western Puerto Rico, moving to the U.S. as he entered his teen years during a time of political upheaval. He works out of a studio/storefront in Minneapolis.
